

Check out the Curbside
Consults Podcast!

Feel confident and prepared with NEJM Resident 360,

a comprehensive online resource for physicians-in-training.

- ✓ Rotation Prep to get you up to speed fast
- ✓ Resources to get by — and get ahead
- ✓ Connections to people who get you

Resident 360

Create your free account today
resident360.nejm.org

Feel more confident as you care for patients.

NEJM Resident 360, a website and discussion platform, supports medical students and residents with essential information to successfully and confidently navigate their training years and beyond.

Rotation Prep — supports your learning with expertly chosen resources and distilled information, including topic overviews, links to high-yield reviews and research articles, and procedure videos, across more than 35 guides in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics, with more added each month. Quickly access the foundational information you need, in a carefully curated and structured framework.

▶ Curbside Consults — this podcast complements the foundational information in Rotation Prep by taking a deep dive into key topics, such as Atrial Fibrillation and Thyroid Disorders, with expert clinicians and educators. Subscribe on iTunes.

Resident Lounge and Career — offer podcasts, blog posts, discussions, and articles that provide insight and guidance on issues related to resident life and career decisions.

Learning Lab — provides educational and interactive resources that explain the medical literature and hone diagnostic skills.

Discussions — connects you with experts and your peers. Discussions cover such topics as “Keeping Up with the Evidence” and “Financial Planning 101.” Inquire about how your residency program can host an online Journal Club with NEJM authors at resident360@nejm.org.

Explore NEJM Resident 360 and create your free account today.
Access Rotation Prep through your institutional or personal subscription to NEJM Knowledge+.

Explore today: resident360.nejm.org
Follow us on Twitter @NEJMres360